We are able to offer a complete service to market operators from demonstration, through advice about the best ranges and accessories to full on site staff training after purchase.

One of the original concepts behind the idea of an instant canopy was their use as a trader stand or market stall. As a company, this was why we first started distributing canopies. We originally manufactured traditional slot together market stalls, but with a rise in continental markets, the pop up market stall became a popular and innovative idea.

With the need to regenerate the image of markets, more and more market operators realised the potential of a professional easy to erect framework. The instant canopy transformed markets in the UK and as a national leading authority on the application of pop up canopies as market stalls, we continue to be at the leading edge of innovation with a wealth of experience built up from trader feedback and many years within the stall community.
